

Brethertons

Heart of England Training and Brethertons Solicitors have been working successfully together for the last ten years. Brethertons has employed and trained over seventeen apprentices through Heart of England Training. They use apprenticeships because they provide on the job training which can be tailored to the apprentice's job role and suit the needs of the business.

Heart of England Training trains and assesses their apprentices at the Rugby and Banbury offices of Brethertons, delivering Business Administration and Team Leading training. Jack Seagar, Administration Team Leader for Brethertons in Rugby, came to Heart of England Training through a recommendation. He went straight onto and completed the advanced apprenticeship in Business Administration at level three which is the equivalent to two A levels. Brethertons were so impressed with Jack that they promoted him to his new role as a team leader and he is now working towards a qualification in this area.

Janson Bastock, Jack Seagar, Lynette Crane, Claire Johnson, Eliane Bussey and Emma Staley

Jack said "I would like to thank Lynette Crane and Claire Johnson from Heart of England Training for all the hard work they have put into helping me progress with my apprenticeship".

Claire Johnson and Abbie-Linzey Jones

Emma Staley came to Heart of England after she completed college and Business Development Advisor Lynette Crane matched her up to an apprenticeship role with Brethertons. Emma has recently completed her advanced apprenticeship. Abbie-Linzey Jones from Brethertons' Banbury office has also completed her advanced apprenticeship with Heart of England Training and is looking forward to progressing further with Brethertons. Both Emma and Abbie were employed due to their professionalism and effort during their apprenticeships.

"Brethertons chose Heart of England Training to provide their apprentices and training because they have built up a strong and long lasting relationship. They also value Heart of England Training's input when recruiting apprentices, as they understand the business' needs." Said Jason Bastock, Brethertons' Office Manager.

Jason added "We have a very good relationship with Heart of England Training. They know our business and this helps us get the correct candidates when recruiting and training our apprentices".

Children In Need

We had a number of fund raising activities for Children In Need 2011. Rugby had male leg waxing, with our friends from Midland Commercial. Leicester had a pyjama day and a 'blowdry-athon' and Coventry did competitions such as 'how many sweets in the jar?' and 'where is Pudsey cycling to?' Overall we raised over...

Apprenticeships with Coventry City Council

Heart of England Training have been providing Coventry City Council with apprentices and training for over 12 years - developing the Council's staff in Business Administration and Customer Service.

Coventry City Council uses the Ofsted Grade One training provider in several departments, including: waste disposal, human resources and register offices. The Council firmly believes in apprenticeships as they provide young people with employment opportunities and the chance to set the foundations for a successful career.

Shokat Lal, Coventry City Council's Assistant Director (Customer and Business Services), said: "Coventry City Council offers a diverse range of excellent career opportunities and we have an 86% retention rate of our young apprentices and they can continue on to gaining permanent employment and following a range of professions."

The Council is currently expanding its apprenticeship programme, with plans to recruit 15 more apprentices for their administration roles, with training provided by Heart of England Training.

Charlie White, Business Development Advisor for Heart of England Training, said: "These are fantastic opportunities for any young person to begin a career in business and gain valuable qualifications."

Heart of England Training work with over 80 employers in Coventry and the surrounding areas, providing them with apprenticeship training. They have recently been awarded Beacon Status, which is awarded to the best training providers, schools and colleges in the UK.

For further information on apprenticeships call 0800 0281 576 or visit www.hoet.co.uk, you can also find us on Facebook and Twitter.
